

preserve memories - provide energy

the international art scene bridges with the local community, nestled within the bricks of an impressive former factory, now transformed into the multifaceted Xelor Kesselhaus

The "preserve memories - provide energy" international art festival is proud to announce its third edition, scheduled from the 13th to the 14th of December, 2023. This year, the festival is delighted to collaborate with IAM 'Intercultural Art Movement' and Xelor Kesselhaus, a former factory in the heart of Neukölln, now transformed into a multifaceted centre.

The festival kicks off at 7 pm on December 13th with a collective art exhibition, performances, and a DJ set by DJ Faulty Error, a Berlin-based DJ originally from Hennigsdorf. DJ Faulty Error will curate a diverse selection of Breakbeat, IDM, Electro, Jungle, Italo Disco, and Techno. Additionally, attendees can enjoy a dance piece by Katherine Leung on December 14th at 04:30 pm in the captivating Jazz Bar.

Participating artists hail from North and South America, Europe, and Asia, including Brigida Brancale, Oscar Castillo, Maximilian Glass, Gudrun Ingratubun, Katherine Leung, Vincenzo Fiore Marrese, Sophia Moffa, Ilona Rijkeboer, and Jacqueline Silva. The international artists will showcase artworks centered around a compelling question: How can one preserve memories while sharing diverse creative energy? The festival embraces an open environment, steering away from a singular narrative or claiming completeness, staying connected to the multilayered reality surrounding us.

The festival's grand opening is on December 13th at 07:00 pm at Xelor Kesselhaus, Mittelbuschweg 10, 12055 Berlin, Germany. The venue is conveniently accessible with a 10-minute walk from the S-Bahn and U-Bahn station S+U Neukölln. Free tickets can be reserved, and additional information is available on the official website: <https://bit.ly/memories-energy-2023>.

For media inquiries, please contact: Vincenzo Fiore Marrese (he/him/his)
Instagram: @vfmarrrese +49 16093806471 info@vfmarrrese.com